

ENVIRONMENTAL POLICY

Simkiss Group is an established and quality driven company at the cutting edge of the electrical and mechanical control systems industry sector.

The company provides a complete and comprehensive range of services that includes the management, design, manufacture, testing, installation and commissioning of control equipment and process instrumentation for industrial and commercial applications both in the UK and overseas

With a large and diverse array of clients working in the critically important electricity, gas and water industry sectors, the company is acutely aware of the increasingly urgent need to secure a sustainable future for all through using resources wisely and ensuring the environment is protected and nurtured both for current and future generations

Recognising that it can and does have a range of local, regional and global environmental impacts, the company has therefore developed and implemented an Environmental Management System (EMS) that will ensure that wherever and whenever possible, it will prevent, control or minimise any impact to the environment arising from its operations and activities.

In order to ensure the environmental management system is embedded effectively across all aspects of the company, the following key commitments have been adopted:

- To comply with all relevant environmental legislation, codes of practice and other requirements to which the company subscribes and which relate to its environmental aspects
- To prevent pollution of the environment whenever and wherever possible
- To continually improve the environmental performance of the company through setting and reviewing, annually as minimum, relevant objectives and targets
- To uphold and improve the employee environmental awareness programme.
- To ensure contractors, sub-contractors and employees work in accordance with the commitments of this policy
- To build upon our current good practice and develop an environmentally sound business culture.
- To share this policy with employees, shareholders and customers as and when appropriate or requested
